TO: California Approved Insurance Providers (AIP) Only

FROM: Nancy Beaumont
Director

SUBJECT: Separating Databases for CA Rice by Insurable Type

BACKGROUND:

In previous years, the Risk Management Agency (RMA) has offered a rice program that provided insurance with no specified type. The actuarials for the 2010 crop year changes the insurable types to short, medium, and long grain. The Davis Regional Office (RO) is sharing a list of each type by variety with all servicing AIPs to assist in the establishment of Actual Production History (APH) databases. The attached data listed on Table 1 as provided by the California Rice Commission serves as reference document only, does not list all possible varieties, and does not serve to be an official document. If the variety is unknown, then please contact the rice industry experts to ascertain such information.

Separate APH databases are required when new types are specified or existing types is divided on county actuarial documents. The FCIC 18010-01 Crop Insurance Handbook (CIH), Exhibit 35, provides three options for dividing APH databases when a practice/type is divided for the purposes of recertification, apportionment, and attribution.

ACTION:

AIPs are directed to Exhibit 35 of the CIH, which contains the approved procedures for separating databases. AIPs are to ensure that each database is established according to the CIH Exhibit 35 and other relevant FCIC-issued policies and procedures.

DISPOSAL DATE: December 31, 2010
